Don't Be A Victim: Avoid the Google Voice Scam

Scammers work hard to gain your trust, obtain your personal information, or open accounts or make purchases in your name. Always remember if you are dealing with someone that you do not know personally you must be cautious. Technology creates opportunities to communicate and do business with people remotely which makes it difficult to know whom you are dealing with and if they are honest and legitimate.

The Google Voice Verification scam is targeted at people who post things for sale on sites like Craigslist, Facebook Marketplace, or people who may post asking for help to find their lost pet.

Be cautious and stay informed on how to avoid scams.
